Other activities in the field relevant to the position of judge at the International Criminal Court

Governance and oversight of the courts:

Nicolas Guillou has recognized expertise in the effectiveness of international criminal justice. Having worked as an expert at the European Commission to assess European Union candidate countries, he then worked on establishing performance indicators in international criminal jurisdictions, and in particular the International Criminal Court (ICC). Nicolas Guillou also drafted two reports on the effectiveness of the legal proceedings before the Special Tribunal for Lebanon (STL) and the Kosovo Specialist Chambers (KSC) and took part in the general audit of the ICC as an expert on governance.

Professional code of ethics:

After working on the adoption of codes of ethics for judges at the STL and the KSC, Nicolas Guillou was appointed scientific coordinator of the Ethica project, directed by the Nuremberg Academy, the Siracusa International Institute and the Ecole Nationale de la Magistrature. The aim is to prepare a collection of ethical obligations for international criminal judges.

Professional training:

Nicolas Guillou regularly directs training sessions for national and international judges, in particular in Sudan (on fair trial and professional codes of ethics), in the Central African Republic (on governance of courts and effectiveness of trials), in Cameroon (on intellectual property law) and in France (on mutual legal assistance in criminal matters and comparative law).
